The scope of B.A. Sanskrit is:

Post Graduation in Sanskrit and Ph.D.

Thereafter Research Projects can be undertaken

Translation works:

- Sanskrit is an old language and many of our old literatures are written in this language. A detail study of the language gives you an opportunity to translate old literature, mythology and other books from one language to another.

Career Oppotunities:

- A good knowledge of the language can also get you a job as a teacher in schools and colleges, which is a highly rewarding career.
- Useful / helpful in different careers like medical science, music, fine arts, yoga, natyashastra, vedic mathematics and computer programming.
- Teaching in Gurukuakls, Vidyapeethas, Sanskrit Academies / Boards, Rashtriya Sanskrit Sansthan ...
- Indian Civil Services / State Civil Services, Bank, L.I.C. and other financial institutions.

Overseas:

- You can go in for higher studies and attain a higher degree in Sanskrit
- Though Sanskrit is mainly learnt and taught in India, both written and spoken command over the language can get you a job around the globe.

ABOUT SANSKRIT

“Sanskrit” is one of most eternal, divine, classical and rich language of our country. It is also the most simple, pure form of expression and hence has been given the privilege to be termed as ‘Devbhasha’ or Language of Gods. It is Sanskrit in which many scriptures of Spiritual or Material world originated. Indian Tradition is identified as Sanskriti which has emancipated from Sanskrit. For the true development of nation and society study of Sanskrit is utmost important.

Study of Sanskrit has since long attracted many foreign scholars and eminent personalities to come to India. According to NASA, Sanskrit has been found to be the most apt language for computers and its programming.
